KENT THERKELSEN

Kent Therkelsen, owner of KRT Construction, Inc. has built a successful custom home building and remodeling company by delivering a quality product with quality people. Kent's architecture degree from the University of Nebraska provides him with the knowledge to truly design and build custom homes and remodeling projects; while his construction management degree allows him to maintain and manage his business very effectively on and off the job sites. Kent uses a 3-dimensional, state-of-the-art CAD system to provide clients with the most comprehensive perspective of their project before it even gets started. Please stop by and tour our new Headquarters and Showroom located north of Maple on 156th Street.

KRT employs a staff of 13 highly skilled carpenters and five office staff personnel and regardless the size or depth of your project, will professionally orchestrate the project through to its completion. Whether you are looking to remodel a small or large project, it would be our pleasure to design and help you realize your remodel project.

KRT Construction, Inc.

These wonderful repeat clients came to us wanting a new kitchen. The idea of repurposing their unused dining room and incorporating it into the new design would create an additional gathering space. As you will see, these clients enjoy entertaining and now have a more functionally designed kitchen that better suits their lifestyle.

The kitchen had out-dated painted woodwork that the homeowners wanted replaced with new cabinets and the latest appliances. The dining room was originally separated from the entry and kitchen by walls with small door openings. We removed the walls and added steel members to support the now large opening to create hearth type room to enjoy. The room is now open to the view of the lake out back.

Speaking of out back, the rear deck and patio area was completely redesigned to take full advantage of the lake view while relaxing. Many seating options were added to accommodate the amenities such as watching TV or enjoying a nice wood burning fireplace. If you would rather go under the covered deck to the patio, there you will find a new grilling and bar area equipped with a refrigerator, built-in grill and TV.

If the weather turns chilly, the entertaining can move into a private "man cave" below the fireplace area fully furnished with all the necessary amenities. If you like entertaining, don't miss this one!
